

OUTPLAYS THE CRIMSON TEAM

Dartmouth's Great Victory in Open Style Game.

YALE DOWNS THE TIGERS

In a Brilliant Match—Was Outplayed in the First Half, But a Big Change in Second Period.

Harvard was completely outplayed by Dartmouth in the Stadium at Cambridge Saturday afternoon, the visitors administering to the crimson their second defeat of the season, by a score of 22 to 0. The equal of Dartmouth's team play has not been seen in Cambridge this fall, and the variety of her attack kept the crimson continually guessing. All the scoring came in the second half, when the Harvard eleven was completely demoralized. The Harvard defense was miserable, and the visiting backs, particularly Ingersoll, plowed between tackle and end and circled the latter at will. Grant, Hoar and Fish were for the most part strong for Harvard, but the ends were pitifully weak, and Burr and Pierce proved easy marks. Dartmouth used the new-style

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the kidneys are out of order, the child is liable to the first, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Football to great advantage, both the forward pass and outside kicking going finely. Several wing shift formations were used most effectively, and rarely failed to make good gains for the visitors. Harvard made a hopeless mess of the forward pass, and relied almost exclusively upon Wendell to get her distance. This he was able to do often, but interference was totally lacking, and many times his runs were spalled. Yale, puzzled and outplayed by Princeton strategy in the first half, recovered completely from its setback in the second half and won the annual match, 12 to 10, in one of the most exciting and spirited games ever seen on Yale field at New Haven Saturday. The "Tigers" used such skill, headwork and dash at the very outset that the Yale men looked slow in comparison, and as the plays began to multiply nothing but a Princeton victory seemed likely. It was Princeton all the time in the first half. Yale appearing awkward victims of the "Tiger" attack. Even at the beginning of the closing period more dexterous work of the Jersey men added to the embarrassment of the sons of '81, but the "Tigers" advantage began to fade less than half a dozen plays later, when an exchange of punts lost them considerable ground. From this point on it was Yale, Yale, and Princeton never had a chance to make even a try for a goal from the field, Yale winning a glorious victory and setting its supporters wild with joy.

BROWN HAS WALKOVER.

University of Vermont Was Defeated, 34 to 0.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 18.—Brown won from Vermont, 34 to 0, Saturday, in a game marked by frequent penalties. Smith, Brown's center, was put out of the game in the first half for rough play. Eddie, Brown's right half, was also put out of the game for rough play. The Vermont ends were very weak. The score: Score, Brown 34, Vermont 0; touchdowns, Mayhew, Donnie, Rignier, Bushnell, Algeri goals from touchdowns, Hazard 4; umpire, Murphy; referee, Van Cline; time, 20 and 25-minute halves.

FEDERAL OWNERSHIP

Of Railways Is Opposed by Labor

AT ITS CONVENTION.

American Federation Fears It Would Prevent Strikes—$2,000 More Pay for Conductors—Postal Savings Banks Favored.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 18.—The American Federation of Labor Saturday went on record, 154 to 50, as opposing government ownership of railways and mines, the question coming up by resolution. The opponents declared government ownership would prevent all strikes, no matter how peaceful, and with a federal government opposed to labor it might prove a death blow to the latter. The salary of President Samuel Gompers was raised from $2,000 to $2,500 per annum, that of Secretary Morris from $2,500 to $4,000, and that of Treasurer Lennon from $300 to $500. The federation voted in favor of postal savings banks and of a plan that all government employees on becoming disabled, shall be paid their full wages for not exceeding six months, and in case of death their dependent heirs shall be likewise paid for a period.

JARRING NOTE IN GREETING.

Some London Papers Cool About Kaiser's Visit to King.

London, Nov. 18.—Undoubtedly London is rather pleased with itself for the reception extended to Kaiser William. The royal visit took place not merely on the only really fogless day of the week, but in a brilliant sunshine. The city feels as if it had been playing at high politics and playing it rather well, and certainly, if a warmth of reception extended by the capital of one state to the head of another can bring these two states closer together, the relations between England and Germany should be much smoother than they have been for some years. There has been just one jarring note, and that has been the attitude of a certain section of the London press. In the bitterness of its Germanophile spirit it has tried to minimize the enthusiasm of London, and on the other hand, get its Berlin correspondents to wire over passages selected from unknown German papers to illustrate the reputed German suspicion of England.

CORSET DEFLECTS BULLET.

Husband, Sued for Divorce, Fails to Kill His Wife.

Marion, O., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Filbert Boice owes her life to the fact that a bone in her corset deflected a bullet fired at her by her husband, whom she had sued for divorce. She escaped unhurt, but was badly frightened. A few seconds before this Miss Boice had another shot, but Mr. Boice, a sister of Mrs. Boice, struck his arm, causing the bullet to go wild. Mr. and Mrs. Boice had met to divide their belongings, and Boice, becoming enraged when several neighbor women came in to look on, pulled his revolver. He is now in jail.

NEW RULE AGAINST BASE BALL "FARMING."

National Commission Aims to Prevent Continuous Violation of Drafting Code.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 18.—To prevent the continuous violation of the rule prohibiting the farming of players, the national base ball commission Saturday announced that rule 39 of the national agreement had been entirely changed. The new rule reads in part: "Rule 39.—No player of a minor league club may be loaned to another club, or to a major league club, shall be permitted within ten days of the first drafting day of each year, and whenever a minor league player is sold by one minor league club to another, such player or shall be required to report to the purchasing club within three days after his sale." "All sales of minor league players by one minor league club to another shall be reported to the national commission at least five days before the first drafting day of each year."

HOW TAFT SPOKE.

And What Occurred When He Got Through.

It must be understood that no representative of the United States government, upon whom might have devolved the duty of so frankly discussing war with Japan and the United States as a combatants, would have received a more respectful hearing than Mr. Taft. Neither is there any of his colleagues in whose integrity of purpose, depth of feeling, honesty, will and ability to deliver the truth as he sees and feels it, do the Japanese people feel as great confidence as they do in Mr. Taft. Had Mr. Taft been delegated by Mr. Roosevelt to convey to the Japanese government and people the message that he communicated to the empire, and the world at the dinner spread in his honor by the municipality and the Chamber of Commerce of Tokyo, he could not have performed this delicate task more successfully, or to the greater satisfaction of those who heard him.

Of course, everyone, from government ministers down to the humblest reader of the daily press, regards what Mr. Taft said as an official deliverance. In the manner of its deliverance, Mr. Taft invested the speech with circumstances. He read it slowly and with frequent liftings of his eyes to those of the Japanese notables who fronted and flanked him. To this reading the Japanese attached possibly more moment than it was intended they should do. "What do they say?" I asked a Japanese banker, who was my neighbor at the table, nodding at several of his countrymen who were talking earnestly among themselves, when Count Terashima, who translated it from English into Japanese, had finished.

"They like it that he read, instead of speaking without the copy," was the reply. "That was very good. It showed that he weighed his words, that he meant what he said. He did not wish to be misunderstood."

DREW LINE AT E PLURIBUS UNUM

Saint Gaudens Wanted to Leave It Off

BUT PRESIDENT OBJECTED

Sculptor Was Opposed to Any Lettering Whatever—But Unless Congress Changes Law, "In God We Trust" Will Stay Off.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—There was no difference of opinion between President Roosevelt and Augustus St. Gaudens on the subject of leaving the words "In God we trust" off the new coins. The sculptor not only wanted to leave off "In God we trust," but "E Pluribus Unum," also. But the president wouldn't stand for that.

St. Gaudens was opposed to any lettering whatever on the coins, and he had some warm debates with the president on the subject. He endeavored to make the figures on the coins take up so much room that none would be left for any lettering, and it was only with the utmost reluctance that he finally yielded to the president's insistence on "E Pluribus Unum." As it is, the Indian head-dress on the figures extends so near the edge of the coin that "E Pluribus Unum" has hardly room to breathe, jammed up as it is in a corner. This, however, is not due solely to the head-dress.

As St. Gaudens originally designed the coin, it had no rim. The result was that the figures were thrown into relief, and it was found that the coins would not "stack." That is, when a bank teller or government clerk undertook to stack a lot of gold coins on top of each other, they would topple over. A rim was accordingly added, and this brought the edge of the coin up to a level with the figures on it, but it necessitated the crowding of "E Pluribus Unum" nearer to the head-dress.

The president was set against the words "In God we trust" from the beginning, and would have left them off even if St. Gaudens had wanted them on.

As soon as it became known that an "Irish" girl, Mary Cunningham, was the model for the head on the coin, protests began to pour in by the bucketful from non-Catholic people. Letters from "True Americans," cranks of all degrees, were received, denouncing it as a profanation.

The president hurried up the execution of the new coin in order to get it through before Congress could intervene. He fully anticipated the storm that would arise over the leaving out of "In God we trust," and was aware that if the work was delayed until Congress met, the responsiveness of that body to any demand from religious denominations would probably result in his being overruled.

New York, Nov. 18.—An unlighted bomb was found by a policeman Saturday in the doorway of the barber shop of Ignazio Fiorio, at 491 West Broadway. Three weeks ago Fiorio received a letter, supposed to be from the Black Hand society, demanding $500, and threatening to blow up his shop if he failed to comply.

ILLEGAL OVERLOANS CHARGED.

Receivers for Six New York City Banks and Trust Companies.

New York, Nov. 18.—Temporary receivers were appointed Saturday for six New York City banks and trust companies which recently suspended payment. They include the Hamilton, Brooklyn and Borough banks, and the Williamsburg, Jenkins and Commercial trust companies. Application for the receivers was made by William F. Mackay for the attorney general. Attorney General Jackson gave out a statement Saturday afternoon, to the effect that in his opinion evidence of both criminal and civil liability has been unearthed in the investigation of the Borough bank of Brooklyn and the Jenkins Trust company of Brooklyn.

In a formal statement issued Saturday, the attorney general said that in the Borough bank of Brooklyn there has been found evidence of illegal over-loans, over-drafts, forged paper and other criminal transactions, all of which will be presented to the grand jury. In the Jenkins Trust company, the attorney general says there has been found evidence of illegal over-loans. It is claimed by the trustees, the attorney general adds, that they know nothing about these illegal loans to the president of the company. The attorney general's announcement states that the investigation thus far has been confined to the Borough bank of Brooklyn and the Jenkins Trust company.

MURCHIE SUCCEEDS HIBBARD.

Rumor Roosevelt Is to Make Rough Rider Postmaster.

Boston, Nov. 18.—It is declared that President Roosevelt has decided to appoint Captain Guy Murchie as postmaster of Boston, in succession to Postmaster Hibbard, in the eventuality of the present incumbent defeating Mayor Fitzgerald in the mayoral campaign next month.

And even if Mr. Hibbard doesn't win, it is said that Mr. Murchie is to have the place.

Mr. Hibbard's term expires the 23d, and as the President thinks highly of Captain Murchie, who is a personal friend, it is regarded as highly probable that the President will personally assign this office. The party has secured all the other offices, apart from any inclination the President may have had. Captain Murchie's friends point out two reasons why they expect to see him land in the postmastership.

CLEVELAND AND JOHNSON IS AN ILLINOIS IDEA

Democrats of That State Who Are Opposed to Bryan Are Booming Such a Ticket.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Grover Cleveland of New Jersey, and Governor Johnson of Minnesota, is the ticket the Illinois Democrats who are opposed to Bryan are endeavoring to launch. The suggestion came up in connection with the week-end political gathering with Chairman Tom Taggart of the Democratic national committee in 16 give at French Lick, Ind., next Friday. He has invited not only the other members of the national committee, but several Democratic politicians outside of it to attend.

Some days before the letter of Mr. Bryan was published, ex-Mayor John P. Hopkins had been advocating the nomination of Mr. Cleveland as the only way for the Democrats to get out of the wil derness. His argument has been that Bryan could not be elected, while Cleveland could.

Roger Sullivan, the national committeeman from Illinois, is in a sense committed to Bryan, in that the last Democratic state convention while announcing full confidence in Mr. Sullivan, declared for Mr. Bryan as the presidential candidate.

A more astute and designing politician would have waited until just before the convention to announce that he was in the race. Not so with Bryan. He is so honest that he blurted it right out without waiting."

WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE.

President and Secretaries Discuss the Financial Situation.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The financial situation formed the topic of an important conference at the White House at Washington Saturday night, those participating, in addition to the president, being Secretaries Cortelyou and Root and Postmaster-General Meyer. No statement was obtainable as to the result. Later Secretary Cortelyou returned to the White House alone and remained with the president a half-hour, when the financial subject was further discussed. Secretary Cortelyou after leaving the White House at 11 o'clock went to the treasury department. Secretary Garfield and Secretary Loeb also were with the president a portion of the evening.

HEPBURN SUGGESTS LAWS.

Regulation of Stock and Bond Issues—Taxation to Prevent Speculation.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Chairman Hepburn of the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce, speaking at Clarinda, Ia., Saturday of possible congressional legislation this winter, said "I regard it as extremely probable that there will be enacted legislation to procure the regulation of the issues of stocks and bonds of corporations doing interstate business. I also regard it as most desirable that the taxing power of the government should be used to prevent gambling in railroad stocks by taxing all sales where delivery is not made within such reasonable time as to indicate that the transaction was bona fide and not for speculation. Stock speculators pay high rates for money and the city banks are induced to make loans outside the channels of legitimate business. This not only tends to involve the banks in speculation, but it withdraws the money from legitimate business enterprises."
